Angelos is a member of our Tax and Regulatory practice group within our Cyprus office. He regularly advises clients on complex matters regarding financial services, collective investment and investment management, crypto-asset services, and other regulatory law issues.

Angelos specialises in the implementation of all key EU Single Market Directives in Cyprus and, in particular, the licensing and supervision of credit and financial institutions, investment firms, AIFs and AIFMs, UCITS, and, most recently, CASPs.

His expertise also includes advising on corporate, commercial, employment and competition law matters, including notifications of concentration, with a Cypriot or EU dimension, to the competent authorities.

Angelos is also a regular contributor to our Regulatory Blog.
