Expertise

Litigation & Insolvency, Restructuring

Calvin Chow is a registered foreign lawyer (Partner*) in the Litigation & Restructuring and Insolvency practice group in Hong Kong. He has developed extensive experience in complex commercial disputes, advising clients from the PRC and other clients abroad in listed company disputes, shareholder disputes and insolvency matters, as well as family disputes such as contentious probates. Calvin has also advised on claims involving fraud and funds disputes in multiple jurisdictions.

Prior to joining us in 2023, Calvin was a partner at a Hong Kong law firm where he maintained a broad civil litigation practice, often appearing in courts and advising companies and individuals in matters ranging from commercial disputes to restructuring of listed companies and regulatory matters. For over a decade, Calvin regularly advised lawyers and insurers as a panel solicitor under the Hong Kong Solicitors Professional Indemnity Scheme.

Before beginning his career as a lawyer in 2010, Calvin worked as a software engineer and as a trader / dealer in various financial institutions.

Calvin is fluent in English, Cantonese, and Mandarin.
